Documentation

When delegating care workers' daily tasks a tool that provides you with an overview of your resources would come in handy.

Thanks to VITAE Care Planning you will be able to cope with the mass of information that is part of the planning process while keeping a firm hold on the distribution of resources.

Workday planning can present quite a challenge when the regular schedule must be combined with new needs assessments, sick leave, courses, meetings and other matters that can break the weekly plan in no time.

With VITAE Care Planning, tasks and available resources can be found in one place – which provides a fast overview of your possibilities and limitations.

PLANNING, FOLLOW-UP AND CONTROL

VITAE Care Planning is an electronic planning board whose graphical presentation facilities provide an overview of the volumes of information that are part of the planning task.

The planning board contains information about which resources are available, when and to what extent.

Name, associated team, presence/absence of the individual care worker are registered. This information can also be transferred electronically from a duty rostering solution.

New or changed orders are automatically uploaded from VITAE Care Record to VITAE Care Planning, including information about the client, the services and related comments. The services are uploaded to a common provider mailbox which enables the provider to distribute services between teams in an easy and clear way. Which is why re-scheduling of services is easy.

Workdays seldom go as planned, which is why VITAE Care Planning takes the numerous changes to the original schedule into account. It is thus simple to move visits around, change the duration of visits, add/remove services, etc.

DAY-TO-DAY PLANNING MADE EASY

VITAE Care Planning comprises two planning levels. A template plan and a calendar plan.

In the template plan regular visits and tasks are scheduled on weekdays. The amount of help the clients need, number of internal tasks to be solved and the staff complement available. The template plan is related to weekdays, not specific dates. The template plan will automatically be copied to the other plan that is used for preparing visit lists – the calendar plan.

The calendar plan is related to specific dates. On the calendar plan visits can be customised in accordance with the day in question. Visits and tasks can be added and cancelled. The care workers to perform the visits are allocated in the calendar plan.

The finished calendar plan can either be uploaded to VITAE Care PDA or printed out as paper-based visit lists.

FLEXIBLE CUSTOMISATION

All the variables included in a visit can be registered, for example time consumption, the specifics of the service, visit frequency, or responsible care worker.

Visits can be put under constraint so that morning visits cannot be moved to the after-noon.

VITAE Care Planning handles the regular visits to the individual client as well as the daily work in connection with changing visits due to illness, hospitalisation of the client, etc.

VITAE Care Planning ensures constant overview of needs and the possibility to meet them, and provides an overview of resource load across teams, thus supporting flexible utilisation of resources.

VITAE Care Planning supports planning of tasks that are not directly client-related, for example meetings, courses and the like. The tasks can be planned for the individual staff members and thus truly reflect the time which is at disposal for the direct client-related work.

DOCUMENTATION

All information is saved and can be retrieved at any time, either by searching for the day in question or via extracts in the VITAE Care Data Warehouse.

INTERACTION WITH OTHER SYSTEMS

- Demographic data, health information and needs assessment information are downloaded from VITAE Care Record
- Information about staff and punch-in and punch-out times are retrieved from rostering systems
- Visit lists are uploaded from VITAE Care Planning to VITAE Care PDA
- Documentation is uploaded from VITAE Care Planning to the VITAE Care Data Warehouse for planned and actual contact time as well as emergency, cancelled or inactivated services
